

The highway connecting Ibri in Oman to Saudi Arabia is a significant infrastructure project that enhances connectivity between the two nations. THENATIONALNEWS.COM Engineering Feat: Constructing the road through the shifting sands of the Empty Quarter was a remarkable engineering achievement, addressing challenges posed by one of the world's largest sand deserts. Key Details: Route and Length: The highway begins at the Ibri roundabout in Oman's Al Dhahirah Governorate and extends to the Batha intersection in Saudi Arabia.