

Art. There is hereby established a National Occupational Health, Safety and Medicine Council responsible for participating, through recommendations and opinions, in the definition of the national policy for the prevention of occupational risks. The composition, organization and operation of this board are set by regulation. To this end, the National Council for Health, Safety and Occupational Medicine is responsible, in particular.²⁷.