Second: the organizational development of logistics management The logistics organization in the institution has witness several stages, according to the stages of its development,represented in the following: The first stage: At this stage the organizational structure was characterized by the spread of logistics functions among several organizational units.That there are no logistical activities in the organizational map.the logistics were dispersed among the functions of the institution.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com