

Argos in Cappadocia There are plenty of hotels in Turkey's otherworldly Cappadocia, but for a secluded getaway perched along the perimeter of Goreme National Park, bed down at serene Argos in Cappadocia. Wake up to view the sunrise, when hundreds of hot air balloons dance across the sky – or even better, float above the clouds yourself (the hotel can arrange hot air balloon rides), before lining your belly at the breakfast buffet, where you'll find a dizzying array of colourful dips and freshly baked pastries. If that's not enough, head down into the hotel's wine cellars (home to 30,000 different bottles), or take a dip in the heated outdoor pool overlooking the lunar-like landscape.
