

Animals are important partners in our lives. In nature, animals help plants grow by spreading seeds and pollinating flowers.