

Gypsum is a mineral and it is a hydrated calcium sulfate in chemical form ($\text{CaSO}_4 \cdot 2\text{H}_2\text{O}$). During the cement manufacturing process, upon the cooling of clinker, a small amount of gypsum is introduced during the final grinding process.