

the spot welding is useful for sheet metals but not bulk ones. I think it is simplest welding process because you just have to cut metals with any shape do you like and put it in spot welding machine and you done the welding .