

Certain COVID-19 vaccines have received approval from or authorization for emergency use from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. The Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 vaccine, now marketed under the name Comirnaty, has received approval from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration to prevent COVID-19 in people 12 years of age and older.