

Amiloride is primarily excreted unchanged in the urine (around 50%), with minimal hepatic metabolism. Minor oxidation may produce hydroxylated metabolites. Its long half-life (6–9 hours) enables once-daily administration.