

This happens when your body's immune system reacts to something it's sensitive to, like pollen, food, or a bug bite.