

Monitoring and Enforcement: Regularly monitoring domain registrations and enforcing your rights through legal action against online predators who register domain names in bad faith can help deter them and reclaim domain names that infringe your trademark.