

Once, a traveler found a small, weathered chest buried beneath an ancient oak. Expecting gold, he opened it eagerly, but inside lay a single, handwritten letter. With a smile, the traveler closed the chest, feeling richer than ever. The letter read: True treasure is the journey you take, the people you meet, and the love you share.