

Herbs are plants that were often used to flavour food and to treat, or cure people who were sick. Herbs have also been used as beauty products, fragrances or colours. People also ate herbs for good health.