

Iron making process is done using blast furnace that reduce and convert iron oxides into liquid iron called pig iron, and the process require three substances to enable to extraction of iron from its ore: