

He sees and realises that his mortal form is merely a temporary vessel , which he is bound to and identified with .