

The film Tarantula highlights the theme of women as property, because Nora, like a doll, is required to dance to obey her husband and please the audience.