

An earlier statement from the Taiwanese defence ministry condemned the Chinese move and said its priority was to avoid direct clashes which could escalate the stand-off further. Taiwan's airports and ports continued functioning as normal. Outlying islands were put on high alert, it added.