Information overload: The constant influx of information through social media, news websites, and other online platforms can lead to information overload and overwhelm. This can contribute to feelings of anxiety, stress, and an inability to focus.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com