The library: The library includes all atoms a user can place into a model. Each atom has a certain function.