The Louvre museum chief admitted security lapses after a daylight raid that saw $157 million in jewels stolen.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com