

4. This adaptability enables companies to respond quickly to changing market conditions, reducing inventory costs and ensuring optimal resource allocation. Scalability and Flexibility: Global supply chain networks provide businesses with greater scalability and flexibility.