

Propose changes you can make to your home, workspace, or other environments to support well-being
Reflect on how these changes will contribute to both your health and the well-being of others around you.