Father; My dear, these forests are characterized by their humid and warm climate and biodiversity, such that three or more species of the same plant can exist, and they are home to all plants and animals, and the presence of many rare animals such as the mountain gorilla, which is one of the largest mammals in the world, the American tiger, which is called the jaguar, and more than 30,000 species of orchids, but Unfortunately, soon we will not be able to visit it due to the frequent felling of forest trees, fires, whether intentionally or unintentionally, the killing of animals, and hunting.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com