

Because when you delete a file on an HDD, the subject file will not get delete instead, it will only delete the pointer, but in SSD, the file will be instantly removed and leaving its location free