Industrial work, by its very nature, can have higher risk hazards than other forms of work. Any accidents hold the potential for serious harm to employees, property or the environment.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com