

Plagued by profound sadness, Erika, a poor single mother of two, finds herself unable to sleep at night, even after her babies are soundly asleep. Her sleepless nights are a direct consequence of the pervasive sadness weighing heavily on her mind.