Computer Graphics is concerned with producing images and animations using computer hardware, software and applications. A computer graphic is pictorial representation of information using a computer program.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com