The marginalization of women in local communities limits their potential contribution to cultural and economic development.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com