

A nice situation happened in front of me, where I saw my little sister every morning preparing food for a little cat, and this cat began to love her, and every time she saw my sister, she would come to play with her.