

There is a start and end to a project. Collection of goals that must be achieved in a specific time frame. Modifications to the project completion process are anticipated to improve performance. Projects require bringing professionals from several divisions together. Collaborate with other