

This means the possibility of angina pectoris as a result of an increase in cholesterol, and it is one of the worrying signs of high harmful cholesterol in the blood.