

This photo holds a moment I'll never forget. It shows me and my dad, standing in the busy airport, ready to travel to London.