

Enhanced Social Media Interaction: It's important for them to actively engage on social media platforms to attract more clients in the future. High-quality visual content is crucial in today's digital marketing landscape. Optimizing task allocation based on skills and expertise can enhance productivity and job satisfaction. This could involve exploring new market segments, diversifying service offerings, and developing tailored strategies for the new agency's growth and success.

Improved Task Distribution Among Employees: They should aim to distribute work among employees more effectively.