

* Organic model * HRIS is critical to the efficient operation of an organization * Interrelatedness between the strategic management system, the strategic HRM system, and the performance goals, business and HR are generated during the strategic planning process.