

A funny incident happened to me while I was travelling to Italy. I sat down and a friendly server came to take my order, I didn't speak Italian but he understood I wanted a pizza. When the pizza arrived, I was surprised because the slices were too big! I was hungry so I decided to try the local food.