

New civilizations encounter significant challenges, particularly highlighted by the Israeli–Palestinian conflict, which stems from historical grievances and territorial disputes. Addressing these interconnected issues requires sustained dialogue and cooperation among all stakeholders to pave the way for sustainable peace and