Colors are a popular festival that Hindus celebrate every year in the spring.The Festival of Colors is known by many names, as it is called Holi Phagua in Asian countries, or the Holi Festival as in India, and also spring celebrations.This holiday goes back many centuries, and to this day it is considered a holy day in some countries, as the state suspends an official holiday, and watercolors are splashed in the streets.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com