

study habits differ from student to student. Being deskbound and inactive seems to inspire. Although most classes are scheduled between 8:30 and 16:00, some students study at night. So, it can be said that study habits differ from individual to individual. Some people need to engage in sports or other physical activity or they can learn and work successfully.