

In social work research, different concerns and goals are pursued with the use of narrative interviews: