

This type is characterized by ease of installation and flexibility, but may be affected by interference and weak signal.