

there are a lot of problems that should be appropriately thought from offer side. The phenomenon can have a side effect of leading to a shallow interaction with news, whereby readers only read the headings and the topic is difficult to concentrate on in-depth pieces. In this regard, people can subconsciously rely on such false information since the consequences and implication of these frequently go unnoticed, thus raising the level of the misinformation dissemination.