

Absolutely, here's the English translation: A scene is a fundamental building block in narrative storytelling. A scene typically includes a group of characters who interact with each other through dialogue and actions. * Developing characters: Revealing their aspects and interactions. * Evoking emotions: Creating tension, joy, or sadness. * Setting the atmosphere: Describing the environment and prevailing feelings.