

Rose spots: Innumerable transient blanchable reddish macules--1-5 mm in diameter--on the lower chest and upper abdomen, caused by bacterial emboli in skin vessels accompanied by focal aggregates of macrophages.