

Forth we are going to talk about the threats that face the human rights watch The threats facing the organization are the political fluctuations facing the world, which is considered the biggest threat to the human rights organization, as most of the violations of human rights occur due to political fluctuations that occur such as wars and military coups, such as those that occur in some African countries, where the latest reports indicate that African countries It is considered one of the countries where there is a violation of human rights.As Despite the fact that HRW is constantly diversifying its funding and membership, its origins suffer from public criticism.Such problems are considered one of the biggest threats facing the human rights organization, such as the inadequacy of the reports that human rights representatives deliver to the organization itself.Economic factors also play a major role in being part of the threats facing the organization.