

benefits of implementing green supply chain management (GSCM) practices for organizations. GSCM practices help organizations reduce waste, minimize resource consumption, and lower operating costs, ultimately contributing to sustainable development. These benefits include improved environmental performance, which can lead to a competitive advantage by enhancing a company's reputation in the market.