

The main idea of the text is that while some people believe robots could replace teachers in transferring information