

The data from the agar well diffusion assay, the antibiotic activity of penicillin fermentation broth is highest in a medium based on raw orange juice supplemented with peptone (Fig. Instead, a medium supplemented with ammonium sulfate is recommended for large-scale manufacturing, as it is much cheaper and utilizes available waste resources. However, due to the high cost of peptone, it is not suitable for industrial production.(c)).