

Lifestyle modifications are key changes that individuals can make to their daily routines and habits to improve their overall health and comfort. Integrate regular physical activity, stress functioning techniques, and healthy eating habits.