

In 3–5 years, I see myself working as a Human Resources professional in a reputable organization, contributing to employee development and organizational success.