Data requires several different types of addresses and numbering to make sure it is received by the correct destination.